

Marines at Camp Leatherneck Afghanistan honor American Innovations

Source: American Innovations, Inc. News Room

March 31, 2010 (Camp Leatherneck, Afghanistan) - On 5 March 2010, Marines to show their appreciation for the dedicated support American Innovations is providing the Marines of Task Force Leatherneck Operation Enduring Freedom, flew an American Flag over Camp Leatherneck and then dedicated it to the men and women of American Innovations.

American Innovations helps our service members however humanly possible because it is simply the right thing to do. We continue to do so without any expectations, with the primary goals of helping save lives, preventing life changing injuries, and to show our appreciation for the selfless service and sacrifices of all our Armed Forces.

To know an American Flag was flown on our behalf by United States Marines on our company's 15 year Anniversary was one of the most moving gestures our company has received to date.

Marines, and other service members, thank you always for your selfless service and continued sacrifices. Come home safely and know you are and will always be heroes to the team at American Innovations, Inc.
